Career Prospects

This is a subject area with many pathways, and studying Sport and Physical Education at A level / BTEC is likely to give lots of opportunities.

The good news is the country's appetite for good health and fitness means that sports students are less likely than average to be out of work. Sports students, not surprisingly, tend to get jobs in sport and fitness, coaching and teaching especially, but they're found all over the economy. Management is also a popular option for students from this subject – after all, this is a subject for people who want to motivate others!

Some students go onto careers performing the sports in which they excel.
